Million-Dollar Brush Fire Rages Near Pasadena

40 HOMES IN FLINTRIDGE AREA BURN

Four-Mile Front in

100 PATIENTS SAVED

Sanatorium Destroyed, Inmates Rushed to Safe Quarters

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (AP)— Wind and fire wrecked havoc in Southern California today.

The toll of damage was estimated as more than $1,000,000.

Four fires raged. The most destructive was in the foothill regions below Mount Lowe and Mount Wilson. Two score residences in the fashionable foothills districts and in canyons from Alta-dena to Flintridge, where millionaires dwell, were burned.

Fire raged on a five-mile front here, this being the scene of the heaviest damage. More than 200 firefighters were treated for injuries. A sanatorium at Lavina burned, within a few minutes after its more than 100 patients were taken to safety to Pasadena and Los Angeles. This fire was checked after 11 hours.

Fire at Malibu
Another fire caused considerable alarm near the movie colony of Malibu, on the beach north of Santa Monica. The mountain home of Charles Farrell, actor, was burned, together with three farm houses.

A third fire flared to the southwest, in Orange county, not far from the Irvine ranch, where Dr.
Albert A. Michelson's famous

Italians Ready For New Advance!

Francis Cuttle

'Headgate Boss' of Up-River Country
Insists Folks Picture Him in Wolf's
Hide When He's a Mere Lamb

By ROCH BRADSHAW

"Francis Cuttle's in town."
So remarked a courthouse attache, referring to the "brains" of the upper Santa Ana river group which has been accused of trying to thwart Orange county's attempts to get its share of flood waters of that stream.

So I decided I'd take a look at the man whose power in the up-river country had made him the much-talked-of threat.

"What about it?" I asked when I found Mr. Cuttle.
"Are you the big, bad wolf that you've been pictured as being? Are you the ogre that is keeping Orange county from solving its water problem? What kind of guy are you, anyhow?"

"Let's sit down and talk this over," said Mr. Cuttle when I had him in the office. "I'm not an ogre at all."

He insisted that this character had been given him only in recent years by Orange county groups who, for their own reasons, have chosen to put that brand on him. Mr. Cuttle wouldn't explain what he believes those reasons are, but he declared he had been given a wolf's hide when, as a matter of fact, he is very much of a lamb.

A lot of the talk, he said, dealt with spreading of water on the debris cone of the Santa Ana river in San Bernardino county. Orange county leaders have complained about that, asserting the upper counties were establishing rights to water which otherwise would come to this district. Mr.
Cuttle has been active for years in promoting that project.

In the course of the conversation he said that "not long ago the Orange county supervisors came through Riverside to inspect the debris cone. They came to my office at the Riverside Water company and asked for directions, but one

Presiding Judge James L. Allen announced today that he has summoned the 1935 grand jury for duty. Members of the panel have been ordered to report to him in department 2, superior court at 10
a. m. Monday.

In calling the inquisitorial body, Judge Allen indicated that he will stress the need for economy and efficiency in conduct of jury affairs this year. He said it is his intention for the jury to complete all necessary investigations and be ready for discharge not later than Christmas.

The 30 county citizens who will serve on the jury are: W. W. Hay.

URGE NEW ELECTION

Chamber of Commerce
Approves Suggestion
With Reservations

Launching of a movement to bring about another opportunity for Orange county to put over its water program and approved by a Santa Ana chamber of commerce committee of a modified plan for water conservation and flood control marked the developments on the "water front" today.

Yesterday afternoon the citizens flood control committee headed by W. H. Spurgeon voted to circulate petitions asking the board of supervisors to call an other water bond election. The group also authorized appointment of a committee of 20 to work out finances for the possible campaign and to work out organization plans.

Irvine Statement
Today's meeting of the special chamber of commerce committee brought a statement from James Irvine, of the committee, that he believes a "modified plan" for a water program would have some chance of success with the voters.

"I'd like to see a low, reasonable dam at Prado," he said.
The committee adopted a resolution favoring a modified plan provided there is sufficient time to get one ready for an election which must be held before Dec. 20, and provided the government grant of $6,574,000 is still available.

Cites Savings
Mr. Irvine said he believed the Prado dam should be built only large enough to control floods 20 per cent larger than that of 1916.
He voiced the belief that considerable cost in purchase of rights-of-way and the reservoir site could be saved in this way, and that the chief value of such a dam would be for flood control rather than conservation.

The committee, which includes
Alex Brownridge, John Knox, A.
N. Zerman and Mr. Spurgeon, was unanimous in the belief that a modified plan would be necessary to gain approval of the people. Mr.
Zerman said he did not believe the former complete program could carry. Mr. Spurgeon and Mr. Knox, however, said they were not sure the government would assist on anything but the plan which was before the voters on Oct. 4.
Mr. Brownridge, chairman of the committee, said he believed that to meet approval of the average voter a modified plan would be necessary in his opinion in order to keep down the cost.

Name Committee
Mr. Spurgeon, chairman of the citizens water committee, today announced appointment of 17 members of the committee of 20 that will prepare and direct plans for the proposed second election on the $6,574,000 county flood control and water conservation plan. In addition to mapping a campaign, the committee will direct circulation of petitions requesting another election on the plan.

Committee members named representing the five supervisory districts are:
First district: C. H. Chapman,
Terry Stephenson, Herbert Miller,
Joseph P. Smith, W. H. Spurgeon,
Santa Ana.
Second district: Jack Crill, Garden Grove; J. K. McDonald, Huntington Beach; Louis Hoskins, Anaheim, and William Maerhan, Katella.

Third district: Stanley Chapman, Fullerton; Thomas McFadden, Anaheim; O. T. Stevens, La Habra; Floyd McCracken, Arita.

DIREDAWA, Ethiopia, Oct.

Harar province, reported today that the Ethiopians were concentrating large forces in the mountain passes for a determined stand against the Italian advance from the South.

ROME, Oct. 23. (AP)—A new Italian advance on the northern front into Ethiopia seemed approaching today when Gen. Emilio de Bono, commander-in-chief of the Fascist forces in East Africa, reported that preparations were "advanced."

Momentarily, however, all was quiet on both the northern and southern fronts.

General de Bono reported to Rome that his air forces flew far over the river Takkeze, surveying the Danakil zone and the Amba Alagi sector, south of the next objective of Makel, about 60 miles southeast of the present front lines at Aduwa.

An official communique said the populations of both the Ethiopian plateau and the plains below in the western zone continued to make acts of submission.

Behind the lines, life was reported completely normal.

SEATTLE, Oct. 23. (AP)—Two army fliers, whose army biplane fell and burned in the foothills of Mount Ranier Sunday, nursed major injuries today after finding their way from the wild, rough country.

The fliers, Capt. Henry M.
Walker, Pullman, Wash., the pilot, and Lieut. Jack M. Goldstein, emerged from the wilderness yesterday afternoon at Morton, Wash.,

High School Tents Torn by Gale; School Dismissed

Classes at Santa Ana High school were dismissed this morning until Monday by Lynn H. Crawford, principal, when 11 tents, already being used for classes, were revealed to be too badly torn by last night's wind for immediate use. Erection of tents to house classes was ordered recently by the board when it evacuated buildings rendered unsafe by the earthquake of March, 1933.

Repairs on the side and roof canvases were to be made before Monday. A permit to move the remaining 11 tents from Pasadena was obtained yesterday from the state highway department even though they were originally declared too wide to be transported on the highway.
The moving will be continued
when the wind subsides sufficiently, Mr. Crawford said.

If the remaining tents can be erected before Monday, classes will go on full time schedule
then, Mr. Crawford said.

COUNTY FIRES TOTAL 16

Nearly 2000 Acres at El Toro Burned Over;
Derricks Destroyed

With a raging wind fanning flames at 16 different fires in widely separated points, Orange county suffered a considerable loss in destroyed watershed and burned oil derricks, it was reported here today.

The largest fire burned over approximately 2000 acres of land in Oso canyon, about two miles northeast of El Toro, but was reported under control, with state forestry division crews still patrolling the area late today. Cause of the blaze which broke out at 8 o'clock last night, was not known by state officials.

Forestry fighters were so occupied with controlling small blazes near El Modena, Hewes Park and at Laguna Beach that they were unable to answer calls from the Dr. Rose Cat food plant at Los Alamitos, which was reported burning. Fighters from the Garden Grove department were finally able to leave their district and help bring the flames under control late this morning. Extent of damage to the plant was not learned.

Two fires broke out at 3 a. m.
today near El Modena, one near the old Water ranch, where 100 acres of brush and grass were burned before fighters gained control, and the other near El Modena grade, where a like area of brush was destroyed. Fighters were still patrolling the two districts late today.

Fire Near Airport

State fighters also answered a call below the Santa Ana airport, near the country club, where 20 acres of stubble burned. Several acres of brush land in Temple Hills, in North Laguna Beach, burned before state and local departments gained control. Other calls to the state department included a fire in a windbreak at Hewes park, a burning barn near Garden Grove and a grass fire

Toll Of Damage Is Estimated At Million Dollars

THE most destructive wind storm in recent years hit Orange county early last night, and today losses were counted at figures as high as $1,000,000.

From 10 to 15 per cent of the new citrus crop was blown off the trees.

Brush and grass fires raged in several parts of the county. Eighteen oil derricks at Huntington Beach and 21 in the Richfield district were toppled over.

Six expensive yachts in Newport harbor were damaged.
Barns at various spots blew over.

Schools in several communities were closed today.

Power lines were down and telephone service impaired in several areas. Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg said today that general reports in the county indicate that 10 to 15 per cent of the new citrus fruit was blown off the trees. The majority of the ripe fruit had been picked, but a considerable amount of what was left was blown off, he said.

Elementary schools at Anaheim, Westminster, Garden Grove, Fullerton and Los Alamitos were closed today because of the high wind.

Lights were out on Balboa island last night. Many signs and trees were blown down there and throughout the county.

May Reach 25 Pct.
Mr. Wahlberg said that in spots the amount of young fruit off the trees would reach 25 per cent.
In some individual cases the estimate has run as high as 50 per cent. Many trees were split or blown over. There was a tremendous amount of whipping and scarring of fruit, he said. Leaves were blown off the north side of trees throughout the county.
Practically all walnuts left on trees were blown off.

"I think agriculture is going to suffer pretty hard," said the farm advisor. But in the long run it may balance things up. It will reduce the amount of fruit produced and perhaps raise the price except in the case of marred fruit."

Other Crops Suffer
Pimientos and chili peppers suffered some damage.

George Cois, of the Garden Grove Citrus association board of directors said that the wind of last week caused more burning of foliage than the present one.

E. J. Smales, manager of the Garden Grove Mutual Orange Distributors house, said that between the Santa Ana river, Stanton and Anaheim there was a 25 per cent loss of new fruit, including that which will drop later as a result of the wind.

At Orange it was reported that the damage will run as high as 25 per cent of the crop. Some ripe fruit was blown off the trees.

Other Damage Reports
At the American Fruit Growers house in Anaheim it was reported that the general belief is that 25 per cent of the crop was damaged.
At Yorba Linda the damage was worse, it was reported.

Throughout northern Orange county it was estimated that the damage will run between 15 and 20 per cent.
Robert Strain, manager of the American Fruit Growers Inc. at Fullerton, said the loss there was about 20 per cent of the new crop

15 Cars, 3 Trucks Stalled By Dust Near Irvine; 30 Rescued

Approximately 15 cars and three tank trucks and trailers were abandoned last night on the highway between Irvine and El Toro as the result of an impenetrable bank of wind-driven dust which swept across the road. Highway patrolmen were kept busy from midnight until early today rescuing more than 30 occupants of the stalled machines. Many of them were on the verge of collapse from dust suffocation, and were taken to San Juan Capistrano for first aid treatment. Several others suffered slight injuries as the result of collisions in the dense cloud of dust.

Because of the confusion, the patrol officers had no chance to obtain either the names of the injured or names of the persons they rescued from the stalled cars.

Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover, one of the officers working in the area, was swept from the side of his car by a falling tree and suffered a fractured left arm, a badly bruised shoulder and a head injury that rendered him unconscious for more than an hour.
Officer Groover was riding on a car driven by Highway Patrolman Ernest Sawyer while the two officers were returning to Irvine after having completed their fifth trip into the dust area, and were carrying nine passengers in the car at the time. Officer Sawyer saw the broken tree descending and cramped the wheels of the car to the left, saving the nine passengers from injury.

"The dirt flying across the highway was so dense that we could not see three feet in front of us," Officer Groover said today. "One of us would walk in front of the car with a flashlight, trying to follow the white line. We would hold another flashlight in back of us so that the driver of the car could follow. At one time while I was driving, I ran into Officer Sawyer and knocked him off the highway into a ditch. One of the and that all fruit not blown off had been damaged. He estimated that fruit remaining on the trees after the storm would be graded at 50 per cent.

San Juan Capistrano apparently escaped with the least wind damage to fruit. Very little green fruit was blown off, the American Fruit Growers there reported. It was the first time the wind had hit that section since 1918. C. E. Crumrine, pioneer citrus grower, said.

The oil industry also suffered heavily. Twenty derricks at Richfield and one at Olinda were blown over. One of them fell through a house but no one was injured. McCracken well No. 1 fell across a high power line and burned. Reports said derricks were still falling in that area at 9 a. m. Total damage to derricks in this area was estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000.

At Huntington Beach 18 oil derricks were down today, nine in the old field northeast of the city and nine in the town lot region. Several streets were blocked by fallen derricks. In some cases where derricks fell, the pumps were right on working. Many wires were reported down in Huntington Beach.

Power Off at Orange Power was off at Orange between midnight and noon today. Plate glass windows were blown out of several stores.

Large eucalyptus trees along the highway at Tustin blew down and fell across the road.

At Newport Beach where 1400 yachts were anchored, those at the Newport Harbor Yacht club were damaged when they were not moored according to specifications, according to Harbormaster Tom Bouche.

Boats Slip Moorings All boats damaged slipped their moorings, including the "Wildura," 50-foot schooner of Claude E. Putman, Los Angeles artist, which crashed into a private pier. Other boats damaged included the "Natica," 42-foot cruiser of Ed Groendyke, Pasadena, $100 damage from fire; "Ocean Wail," 50-foot schooner of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Johnson, Los Angeles, which crashed into "Amac," a 35-foot cruiser, causing $500 damage; "Anigeta," 45-foot cruiser of Victor Forsythe, Altadena, beached; "Jobyana R.," owned by Richard Arien and his wife, Jobyna Ralston, dragged moorings but was not damaged; "La Voite," 50-foot schooner owned by Bill Remington, beached after slipping moorings.

The derrick of the Great American Oil company at Newport Heights blew down.

At Garden Grove the mechanical windbreak of E. G. Maier, near the county hospital, was partially destroyed.

Roof Off School At Westminster the roof was blown off the Hoover school. Part of the Miller garage on Huntington Beach boulevard was blown down. Two silos and a hay barn were blown over at the Wilson dairy on First street. Trees were blown down around the Midway City Women's club.

At Stanton a Japanese grocery store was reported to have been blown into the middle of the highway.

With lines and poles down all over the county officials of the Southern California Telephone Company said at noon the continued high wind is hampering restoration of service to such extent they could give no estimate when in one section we got new calls "As fast as we restore service in once section we get new calls from another area," one official said.

95 Lines Out Here In Santa Ana 95 lines were out, cutting off service from 190 subscribers. In addition to the lines that are out, 23 telephone poles were uprooted, particularly in the northern section of the city. The majority of these poles have been replaced by crews that have been out since before daylight. The grass fire that swept through the El Modena section aided in crippling service in Orange when several poles, carrying company cables, were burned. These burned poles are being replaced at this time.

In the open areas where the telephone lines are not enclosed in cables groves have been called to restore service at 10 points in the Santa Ana district, where tree limbs had blown through the lines, tearing them loose.

Reports from other sections of the county revealed that in Anaheim 21 lines were crippled, cutting off service from 53 subscribers; in Fullerton 16 lines were out, silencing 24 telephones; Placentia, 13 lines serving 40 subscribers; Garden Grove, seven lines and nine subscribers; and Brea, seven lines and 11 subscribers. The beach area suffered little, if any, damage.

Orange Power Off At the offices of the Southern California Edison company it was impossible to obtain an estimate of damage. All company officials were traveling through the county in response to emergency calls and telephones were all tied up with calls from points where the power had gone out.

In the city of Orange a transformer blew out last night, putting the entire city in darkness. Two efforts to resume service today failed when trouble crews attempted to plug in the lines, only to have them blow out again. Shortly before noon power service was restored in the downtown area of the city.

Other damage in Orange came when plate glass windows in several business houses were shattered and scores of trees were uprooted during the night.

Fullerton Schools Closed All elementary schools in Fullerton were closed today because the wind made it impossible to use the tent houses in which a large portion of the students attend classes.

At the high school there, metal standards holding up the flood lights on the football field were twisted double, dropping the large lights to the ground. Wooden poles holding the lights on the east side of the field weathered the storm.

Reports from the oil fields revealed that between six and eight wooden derricks on leases in the Brea, Placentia and Atwood districts had collapsed. No estimate of the damage had been made.

Damage in Anaheim Anaheim elementary schools remained closed because of the high wind which made it impossible for many of the children to reach the buildings. No damage was done to buildings in the elementary group, and at the high school where a new unit is under construction damage estimated at approximately $100 was done to forms that had just been constructed preparatory to the pouring of concrete for foundations.

Sand, rocks and trash filled the forms, making it necessary to tear them out and rebuild them. The most damage was done to Anaheim city park where tile was blown off the roofs of the plunge building and the Greek theater, large pepper trees were uprooted and others were broken. According to Park Superintendent Rudy Boyesen, a door from a storeroom was torn from its hinges and blown through the glass plant propagating house where hundreds of rare plants being prepared for spring planting were destroyed.

Oldest Building Falls Anaheim's oldest frame building, a barn 50 years old, standing on the P. H. Krick property at Cypress and Los Angeles streets, collapsed, and a shed on the property occupied by the Anaheim Cooperative was destroyed by the wind.

Plate glass windows in six business houses in the downtown area were destroyed, and the power was off in several sections of the city during the night and early morning hours. There were no fires, although 10 alarms were turned in by persons who became frightened when electric wires touched, setting off sparks.

A hay barn on the Raitt Dairy ranch, Bristol and Fairview avenue, Santa Ana, collapsed during the night. A threshing machine stored in the building was not damaged, according to J. T. Raitt.

Plan Authorized The committee was authorized yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the county-wide group when Jack Crill, president of the Orange county farm bureau, introduced a motion creating such a committee for the purpose of preparing an organization campaign plan, recommending officers to head the group and devise methods of financing the campaign.

One of the first injuries reported was that of Kiprian Bean, 15, who remained behind after his family fled from the burning home at 542 Mountain View avenue, Altadena.

After fighting the flames vainly for a while, he jumped on his bicycle, and gasping and choking from the smoke, suffering from burns and almost overcome, he was struck by an automobile.

Sweeping southwestward the flames ate down along the foothills from Echo mountain, completing the devastation of fires of former years by virtually denuding the watershed from the Rubia canyon to Santa Catalina.

On the western front strenuous efforts were made to halt the flames from driving through Flintridge hills where many beautiful estates are located.

2000 Acres Burned The Los Angeles county foresters' office said that this morning the east boundary of the fire was in Rubia Canyon and the west boundary on Gould Mesa, an air-line distance of about three miles. Two thousand acres had been burned over.

Firefighting at that hour was concentrated on Foothill boulevard, paved highway extending from San Bernardino to Hollywood. A crew of 250 men and 12 pumps were centered on this boulevard between Altadena and Flintridge.

Fire May Jump Although wind velocity had dropped from 50 miles an hour to about 35 miles an hour, the fire, if it jumped south over the boulevard, might rage uncontrolled toward Burbank and Glendale, with small hope of checking its progress.

Automobile traffic on the Roosevelt highway, a main coastal artery, was stopped this morning north of Santa Monica as tongues of flame licked down from the brush and swept over the road, at the Malibu Beach colony.

Capt. Jay Morey, of the sheriff's sub-station, said the numerous palatial beach homes of motion picture players were not in danger. F. C. Fischer, caretaker of the Boy Scout camp at Camp Huntington, said he saw a "flash of white" about 1:30 o'clock this morning, and turned in an alarm shortly afterward when he saw flames leaping in Rubia canyon.

After daybreak it was discovered that the north cable of the south power line of the Southern California Edison company at that point had snapped. This was believed to have been the origin of the fire which this morning had spread along a four-mile front, east to west.

Damage to the La Vina sanitarium was estimated by Dr. Walter Hodge, superintendent, at speed of light experiments were made.

A fourth fire was burning to the north in Kagel canyon, west of Sunland.

Three state highways were temporarily closed by the fires.

The Roosevelt highway along the Pacific coast, north of Santa Monica, was closed by the Sierra Madre range fire, and the main highway to San Diego through Orange county was closed by the Altamira blaze south of Irvine ranch.

2000 Fight Flames Two thousand men were engaged in battling the flames, which roared down the hills flanked by a 50-mile wind, ate into the fashionable estate districts of Altadena, Chevy Chase and Flintridge.

Two other fires were raging between the mountains and the coast. One was at Latigo canyon, in the Santa Monica mountains, near the Seaside movie colony of Malibu. The other was on the Santa Margarita ranch near San Juan Capistrano.

On the Rinche ranch, on the Malibu coast, three farmhouses were destroyed with a loss estimated at $10,000.

Dense clouds of smoke hung over Los Angeles like a pall.

The fire was believed to have started in the Mount Lowe incline railway area of Rubia canyon, back of Altadena from high tension wires blown down by the gale. Flames ate into the old wooden structure of the Mt. Lowe incline railway, over Rubia canyon.

Near Arroyo Seco Fanned by the high winds the flames flashed southerly toward Altadena and westerly toward the Arroyo Seco.

Forest rangers handling fire crews succeeded in tying down the easterly front, but the west bank of the Arroyo Seco was soon a mass of flames which ate their way into the estates on the edge of Altadena.

One of the residences reported destroyed early in the morning was that of C. R. Keyser, on the northern part of Marano avenue. Admiral George Dewey has been a guest there.

Other residences destroyed were of C. H. Cobb, Lake Avenue; Dr. Leonard Nightingale, Frank Weir and Mrs. Alice M. Weir.

The sheriff's forces reported that at least 15 luxurious estates in the exclusive residential section of North Fair Oaks avenue and Wapello lane had been destroyed.

Boy Is Injured One of the first injuries reported was that of Kiprian Bean, 15, who remained behind after his family fled from the burning home at 542 Mountain View avenue, Altadena.

The fire crept steadily westward to the La Canada foothill district, menacing several large estates. In this district several motion picture actors, among them Irving Pichel, Victor McLaglen and Billie Burke, maintain their year-round homes.

Several smaller resort homes in Kagel canyon were endangered by fire. This fire, in the La Crescenta district, had no direct connection with the main fire sweeping westward from Altadena.

Dr. Frank Nolan, in charge of the California forestry medical corps, said physicians of the corps at the emergency station established on Foothill boulevard, had treated 150 firefighters for minor burns. He said no serious burns had been treated so far.

Among the residences destroyed by the fire were those of Oscar Yarnell on the Giddings rancho, and Mrs. W. T. MacArthur on the Frank Weir rancho. Both residences were beyond the northernmost end of North Fair Oaks avenue in Altadena.

So fast did the flames spread in Altadena that Mrs. Frank Weir and her daughter, Mrs. Gretchen Mitchell, barely escaped with their lives after detecting the fire two miles away. They hastily packed their belongings, got into their auto, and kept slightly ahead of the flames beating behind them.

fire was extinguished at Santa Fe and First streets at 11:52 p. m. Three other trash fires were put out, one at 4:22 a. m., the second at 5:04 a. m., and the third at 7:10 a. m. today.

The police department last night answered 28 calls, the direct result of the wind storm. Trees in various sections of the town were reported to be lying in the streets. Power lines were blown down, endangering passersby. Windows were broken in Shaffer's Market on Bush street near Fifth street; Dickey Furniture store, Fourth and Spurgeon streets; J. C. Horton Furniture company, 500 block on North Main street; Gilbert-Western-Stearns store, 204 North Main street; two windows in the Ford Garage on North Main street; one at Chandler's Furniture store, Third and Main streets; one in the A-1 Paint Shop, Fifth and Ross streets, and one at the Signal Service station, First and Cypress streets.

Portions of roofing from residences throughout the city were torn off by the wind. The scaffolding at the new city hall was reported to be dangerously weakened, and portions of the coping on the First National Bank building were reported torn from the structure.

At the same time members of the government said Emperor Haile Selassie expressed the greatest satisfaction at the speech of the British foreign secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, particularly for his appeal to Premier Mussolini for Italy to peace and for his declaration that neither the League of Nations nor civilization will condone a multiple breach of treaties.

A third great body of braves, 200,000 strong, surged down the valley of the Webbe Shiheli river under the command of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Selassie, to meet the southern Italian army under General Rudolfo Graziani.

I will not pursue a policy or be responsible for the government of this country if I am not given the power to remedy those deficiencies that have occurred in our defensive services since the war."

ETHIOPIA BOLSTERS; 300,000 FACE BATTLE

By JAMES A. MILLS (Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 2.—Ethiopia stepped up its defense against the Italian invasion to fever pitch today, with 20,000 more marionettes girding themselves for an immediate departure to the northern front.

At the same time members of the government said Emperor Haile Selassie expressed the greatest satisfaction at the speech of the British foreign secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, particularly for his appeal to Premier Mussolini for Italy to peace and for his declaration that neither the League of Nations nor civilization will condone a multiple breach of treaties.

A third great body of braves, 200,000 strong, surged down the valley of the Webbe Shiheli river under the command of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Selassie, to meet the southern Italian army under General Rudolfo Graziani.

Speaker of the House Ted Craig and Assemblyman James Ut, who were passing through the area, took a carload of the stranded motorists to Irvine, and took two slightly injured persons to the Santa Ana Valley hospital for first aid treatment. They were Mrs. Sally Guthrie and her granddaughter, Miss Sally Flak, both of Orange, who sustained cuts and bruises in some unexplained manner.

Gordon Clark, 928 West Fairview street, and Bill Brooks, 933 West Fairview street, Santa Ana, were brought to the sheriff's office last night, where they received treatment for minor injuries suffered in a collision in the dense dust. They were passengers in a car operated by Delbert Brown, 434 South Sycamore street, Santa Ana, which ran into the rear of a stalled car driven by Art Nelson, El Toro.

GIRL REPORTER KEEPS SECRET

Miss Angela McCann, San Clemente and San Juan Capistrano newspaper correspondent, will leave for San Francisco in two weeks, carrying with her the identity of the man who stabbed her five months ago. Miss McCann last night told a Journal reporter she was positive concerning the identity of the attacker, but was unable to gather sufficient evidence to warrant his arrest.

Reports of her marriage last week in Mexico to Michael Verdugo Townsley, San Francisco mining engineer, were denied by Miss McCann.

Five months ago, following the receipt of a threatening letter, Miss McCann was walking along the Coast highway in San Clemente when a car was driven up to the curb and a voice inquired "Aren't you the girl from the Register?"

Miss McCann walked over to the car. Suddenly, she said, the driver of the car made a lunge at her and she felt a sharp pain in the left side, just above the heart. She said she realized then she had been stabbed. The car turned around in the middle of the highway and sped away.

San Clemente police and deputy sheriffs started an investigation, but their efforts to find the attacker were fruitless. Miss McCann, however, says now she knows who did it.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

ANOTHER birthday has sneaked up on us. We'd almost forgotten about it, but the sixth anniversary of one of the Southland's fastest growing children will be celebrated next Saturday. We almost said one of the noisiest children, but George Kellogg and some of his co-workers might not like that unfair description.

Anyway, the Imperial Highway association is six years old, come next Saturday. That many years ago a loyal gang met for the first time in Brea and started in to do something. They've pretty well accomplished what they started in for, only a few odds and ends being left, and they'll probably do a little chest-swelling and back-patting Saturday, but who'd blame 'em?

SIX YEARS ago there wasn't a sign of the Imperial highway. It was just an idea. That gang, composed of presidents from Los Angeles to El Centro and points south, started to work, and have never let up for a minute. They've usually been pushed and howled until some county or state official would be forced to take notice and give 'em a little patch of road, just to snuff 'em up. Then, they've started pushing and howling and stepping on official toes all over again. Then there'd be another little piece of road offered.

By this time those little pieces have been patched together until the highway is almost completed from El Segundo to the Imperial valley. The association meets every month, and at every meeting some proud representative of a district will climb up on the table and proclaim to all who'll listen that he has personally supervised completion of so many feet or yards or miles of road in his town's backyard. Others will tell of bumps taken out of their stretch of highway or shoulders or elbows or somepin' added to their piece of highway. They're really proud of their accomplishments, as they should be.

THE part of the road closest to home is the stretch up by Yorba Linda. What we mean is, the part where the loudest howling for action is now taking place. The highway has been finished almost to the orange county line from Los Angeles. There's a stretch of about three miles around Norwalk yet to be completed. Then there's a fine, smooth road over the hills and valleys south of La Habra and through what was formerly Cedar avenue in Brea. That stretch runs to Carolina avenue, north of Placentia.

What's brewing now is completion of the road from Carolina through Yorba Linda to the Santa Ana canyon road, which would finish one of the most important links in the whole system. The state's money has been apportioned for the stretch and surveys are being made for the work. It won't be long.

The thing that's been bothering us ever since we started thinking about the association is what're they going to do when the highway is finished? After six years, it's a habit, by now, and if they don't start building a road around the equator, or to South America or something, they're liable to be in for a lot of trouble from not enough to do.

At any rate, we wish 'em a happy birthday.

WE'RE in for some trouble. A few days back the city ed demanded a weather story. We wrote something about the rain. Then the wind started to blow. Another story, please. So we told all about the wind, and how it'd probably die down during the night. It didn't.

Then, with the aid of others who should know, and our own personal observation that after three days the desert winds'd stop, we said that it was practically over. It was for a couple of days. And then, last night she started in all over again. Seems sorta soon to be thus afflicted. Personally, we don't mind the roaring gusts so much, but what'll the boss say when we just got the other wind stopped, and another one starts up?

THOUGHT that we'd just sneaked away from the whisker situation for awhile, and along comes another contest. This time, it's the Union Oil company's workers, who're planning a picnic Saturday at Irvine park, with all sorts of lures offered workers who grow the best crops of sideburns, mustaches and what-have-you.

If employees don't sprout, and sprout soon, there's going to be a nice, big horse-trough waiting at the park, they say. At first, we started in pitying some of the wives, but by this time, after some investigation, we've started envying 'em. Think of all the laughs they get! We've almost insulted some of the well-meaning artists with slighting remarks about the shaggy splendor of their tansorial efforts, but they take 'em so seriously we've avoided trouble so far by acting as though we had a bad case of hiccoughs, or had just slipped on a banana peel, or something.

There isn't a dirty crack at Dean, Hasson, who's afraid to enter Anaheim without some sort of a beard, either. Dean, they tell us,

HOUSEHOLD ARTS

HOUSEHOLD ARTS by Alice Brooks

For a real treat, walk out to the end of Hitler's point, sometime and watch the flaming-orange sun dive slowly into the sea or disappear behind Catalina Island. When the last vestige is gone, turn around and watch the lights of the business district flick on. Orange-reds predominate in a gay panorama of color. There is a brief hush in the air at this changing moment. The ocean becomes a deep purple shade, and the inland horizon of hills and cliffs are etched sharply against a darkening sky.

It is so grand that it more than compensates for the occasional need of city excitement. What a price a tired New Yorker would pay for such a sight at the end of a busy day!

PATTERN 5458

The toque is again in high favor with Dame Fashion. She well knows how easy it is to wear. And this one in crochet meets with her loud approval for all her forecasts point to crochet as an outstanding note for Fall and Winter. The toque is so simple to make and has, as chief decoration, a cable effect that is very lovely. The muff-purse—and how we all love that—repeats the design of the toque. Its shirred ruffle and fullness give it a feminine note that will add much to your appearance.

In pattern 5458 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana.

COAST L-I-N-E-S

STEPHEN Chalmers has sold his Laguna house, "Trails End," but he refused to sell the name. W. D. Downs of Glendale called on Steve one day last week and, without benefit of agent, they struck a deal. Such things can happen, even in Laguna.

By arrangement, the Chalmers will continue to live in their home until the first of the year, at which time Mr. Downs takes possession. It isn't as though the house had burned down or any calamity befallen it, but nevertheless Steve is already feeling sentimental tugs at having to leave. "Trails End" has always been a gathering place for writers, poets and sculptors, and Steve often royally entertained his friends of the army and navy there. And he says that if the place weren't so big, Mrs. Chalmers never would have agreed to sell.

Fortunately, Steve is a member of the "Top O' The World" club, and they own about fifty acres at the top of the hills back of town. The charter members were privileged to choose their own plot of ground, so Steve owns a lot way up there where he says he used to hunt jackrabbits. And he intimates that before very long he is going to build a house on his lot, where he has always wanted to live. It is so far from town that he believes his fiction factory might work longer hours.

Judge C. C. Cravath thinks that getting started on a trip is more than half the fun. The other day Doc Mallow had his car packed alongside of his druggstore. There was a two-wheeled open trailer attached to the bumper, and the judge was packing in enough provisions for a long, cold winter. Deer! deer! was the hue and cry, and there were close to a dozen onlookers standing around making suggestions and putting in their bid for venison steaks.

When everything was in place and the judge was cinching the tarpaulin down with a long length of double telephone wire, who should come along but the mayor, who started kidding the judge to the point of blushing about swiping somebody's telephone line. In fact he thought he'd go home and see if it was his that was missing.

Couldn't stick around long enough to see them get off in the afternoon, but it's fairly certain that if the onlookers had anything to do about it not one of the party forgot so much as his toothbrush. Sam Piety ambled over from across the street and offered to contribute a fish to add to their provisions, but due to the warmth of the day, they declined.

City Engineer A. J. Stead has been working day and night recently so he could get a few days respite from figuring lateral sewer district estimates and go along on this trip to Pine Valley, Utah. J. W. Minter went, too.

Ted Cook joined the party later. It is doubtful if he took his dog along, because Doc Mallow's "Chico" has been looking forward to this trip for weeks, and a certain jealousy exists between the two dogs. Chico has the time of his life out in the wilds, according to Doc, but he didn't specify if he goes deer hunting for his own pleasure or merely to give Chico his annual back-to-nature frolic.

W. O. Bridges, manager of Excelsior Creamery here, is looking proud and happy about moving into the new quarters on Forest avenue. He is of the opinion that business is going to build up that way in the future. At the present rapid rate of home-building in Laguna, business is going to have to build one way or another.

At the present time, however, business locations have already discounted the recent increase in population, and there's not apt to be another spurt in this direction until the ratio of homes and business properties is altered again.

Lot of folks who just live here for the simple sake of living feel that Laguna has grown too big and too fast, and they'd like to put a ban on all further building. Progress in any direction means only one thing—more taxes. Maybe they're right.

For a real treat, walk out to the end of Hitler's point, sometime and watch the flaming-orange sun dive slowly into the sea or disappear behind Catalina Island. When the last vestige is gone, turn around and watch the lights of the business district flick on. Orange-reds predominate in a gay panorama of color. There is a brief hush in the air at this changing moment. The ocean becomes a deep purple shade, and the inland horizon of hills and cliffs are etched sharply against a darkening sky.

It is so grand that it more than compensates for the occasional need of city excitement. What a price a tired New Yorker would pay for such a sight at the end of a busy day!

WILL JEWS BE BARRED FROM 1936 OLYMPIC GAMES?

(Note:—This is the second of two articles describing the athletic situation in Germany, especially as it affects the opportunities for Jews to try for the German Olympic teams.)

By A. D. STEFFERUD
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Two answers are given to the question "Can Jews in Germany participate in the 1936 Olympics?" One is that the German Olympic committee, speaking from an international viewpoint, is autonomous and can bar Jews without assigning a reason.

The other involves the query, "Can Jews in Germany train freely?" Jews attach greater significance to this, for it lies at the point whether Jews are given opportunities to prepare themselves for tryouts.

Jews assert that while the federal sports leader's regulations provide for the pre-Olympic training of Jewish clubs, functionaries, including these and secret police, make impossible the proper preparation of Jews.

In nearly all communities, the Jews point out, swimming pools may not be used by Jews.

In at least one instance—at Meiningen—an athletic field belonging to Jews was laid waste.

JEWISH athletic organizations have been forced to disband. One such, the "Jewish Turn and Sport Club 1905," was banned by secret police because its women members competed against members of the women's auxiliary of the Berlin policemen's sport clubs.

The "Tennis club of the year 1933" in Hamburg was dissolved. No reason was given.

Because of these considerations, Jews say, participations of members of their race is virtually impossible.

They add that the training of their youths has been out of the question in the last two years because they cannot compete against Aryans and that hindrances to good performances—such as "oral and mental oppression"—are placed before the few Jews who in previous months were permitted to compete against Aryans.

ONLY in Jewish circles are the names mentioned of Jewish athletes who were successful in earlier Olympics.

An official in the staff of reichs sports leader, Hans von Tschammer und Osten, said no Jew survived the first Olympic tryouts in Germany because performances were not good enough.

Newspapers also declared, for example, that Jews participating in the Brandenburg contests—for the province including Berlin—did so poorly that they cannot be considered for Olympic teams.

On the other hand Jews point to the following details:

The Jewish Makkabi sport organization has a 400-meter team that it claims to be the best in Germany. Among other members are the distance runner, Bar Kochba, a competitor in the Paris Olympics; Kurt Lewin, Berlin university titleholder; Martel Jacob, javelin champion, and others all of whom had planned, or hoped, in vain to enter the Olympic preliminaries.

An exception has been made in the case of Frauline Gretel Bergmann, Jewish girl high jumper, who has been invited to train under German Olympic coaches. On her performances, however, she is not assured a place on the Olympic team.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS ON THE 1936 OLYMPICS

YOU CUSTOMERS may not appreciate it, but you're getting a break. The "Times" Bill Henry, although he doesn't know it, is writing our piece for us today.

Bill, who talks even better than he writes, made a speech before the Orange County Schoolmasters' association last night. We were there with a borrowed pencil and a hunk of copy paper. Bill talked and talked and listened, listened some more and laughed a few times. Then we shook hands with Bill and went home.

Today when we came to work we looked at our notes. These are some of the things we found we had jotted down. It places our scribbling had overlapped onto the table cloth, but the old memory serves rather well, so we filled in. Here goes:

Mr. Hitler, says Bill, is sort of a second Mr. Roosevelt. First thing he did when he got in power was to get a lot of money voted to him. Then he started looking for places to spend it. His eye caught on the 1936 Olympic games. And he started spending.

Just 15 minutes from the center of Berlin is the site of the games. Everything is new. A stadium with a capacity of 100,000, fine swimming pools, tennis courts, half a dozen training fields and, in fact, all desirable equipment.

Sports fans in Europe and England don't always sit down. In fact, most of them stand up. The new stadium will seat 60,000 and 40,000 more can stand up. Which is considered a concession by the builders. Imagine more than half the customers sitting down! Talk, talk!

This new plant covers 325 acres and will be used as the center of reich (government) athletics.

Each winner will get, beside a medal signifying his victory, a small live oak plant. It will be sent home for him free by the government and, transplanted, will serve as an enduring symbol of the "greatest moment" for those athletes.

HERE'S THE GRANDEST touch of all, though. The huge torch that will burn throughout the 16 days and which will be lighted from a torch lit in Greece! Honest. Here's what they've arranged to have done:

A torch will be lighted in the Olympic fields, Greece, from the sun's rays—via magnifying glass. From there, 3000 runners, traveling one kilometer each, will carry the torch through Europe to Berlin.

At the dramatic moment when the opening ceremony is to be climaxed and the games officially opened, the last runner is to enter the stadium with the torch. He will have the honor of opening the games. To whom does this honor go? Nope, not Adolf Hitler.

Speridone Ludes is his name. Reason: Way back in 1896, when the Olympic games were revived at Athens, the historic marathon run—from the battlefield of Marathon to Athens, 26 miles—was also revived. Greece, although steeped in the glorious history of the ancient Olympics, had not won a single contest in the modern version.

So Speridone, a shepherd boy, prayed all night that he might win this marathon race in order that Greece would have won one victory. Untrained and unexperienced as he was, Speridone won that race.

He will run the last lap of the 3000-mile torch relay from the Fields of Olympia to Berlin. He, remembering his conquest of 1896, will open the 1936 Olympic games.

OREGON U SQUAD READY TO TWIST TAILS OF BRUIIS

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23. (P)—Primed to a fare-thee-well on pass defense, Oregon university's gridsters were ready today for the long jaunt to Los Angeles, starting tonight, where they are scheduled to meet the U. C. L. A. eleven in one of the Pacific coast conference's five football battles Saturday afternoon.

Every man was in suit, with the exception of Bud Goodwin, at yesterday's grueling workout, and the team was adjudged in excellent condition. Goodwin, who suffered an injured ankle in the California game, was not expected to make the trip.

Stan Rodan, Pasadena, was named to captain the team from his position at left end.

Captain Bill Shuler and Quarterback Ralph King of West Point's football squad wear gold stars on their military uniforms signifying academic averages of 92 per cent or better.

'SLIP' LOSES TWO

MORAGA.—"Slip" Madigan had a new worry today—the possible replacements of Floyd Maxham at fullback and Tony Falkenstein at right half—as his St. Mary's Gaels worked up defensive tactics for an expected aerial attack from University of San Francisco Sunday. Maxham tore a ligament during practice and Falkenstein has developed a "hip pointer."

Big Sports Carnival Due for Coast Prep League

EVENTS WILL BE HELD AT LONG BEACH

Football, Track Feature Program; New Meeting Set for San Diego

Final plans for the Coast Preparatory league's first annual sports carnival, featuring all types of athletic events, with football the major attraction, will be drafted in a meeting of coaches and other officials at San Diego Nov. 5, it was learned today from Lynn H. Crawford, principal of Santa Ana High school and secretary of the league.

As previously announced, the Coast league's four members—Santa Ana, Long Beach Poly, Alhambra and San Diego—are withdrawing from the annual C. I. F. play-offs this fall to experiment with the athletic carnival, which has been set for Burcham field, Long Beach, for early December.

It will be more than just a "football" meet.

Approximately 40,000 attended a similar event conducted by the Los Angeles City league in the Coliseum last year. The Coast league program at Long Beach unquestionably will be a financial success, league officials say. Net receipts will be divided equally among the four schools.

Walter Bell, Long Beach, has been appointed chairman of the big carnival.

Three Represent Saints

The complete program will be arranged at the San Diego meeting, at which Santa Ana will have three representatives—Principal Crawford, Coaches W. W. (Bill) Foote and Reece H. (Pinky) Greene.

Present plans call for each school to play the other two quarters of football. With three opponents, each will appear in a game and a half of action. Total of points scored against all opposition probably will determine the championship.

Cross-country running will be another feature. The race will finish in front of the Burcham field grandstand. Santa Ana has not yet decided to enter a team.

Bands Participate

Music will be furnished by the bands of the four schools, and special competition probably will be arranged for them. Exhibitions in track (discus, shot, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, etc.) and tumbling may be added to the program.

TEXAS TECH TO ARRIVE SOON

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (P)—Pete Cawthon's Red Raiders of Texas Tech roll into town tomorrow for their intercollegiate clash Friday night with Loyola's Lions.

Meanwhile Tom Lieb, Loyola coach, is putting his charges through hard practice drills, and expects his backfield, with Harry Sartoris and Jim Hagerty off the injured list, to be stronger than last week when the Lions defeated Arizona.

PROMOTER PLANS TO INTRODUCE JAI ALAI IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (P)—Jai Alai, popular sport in South America and Spain, is to be introduced here.

F. E. McCready, sports promoter, has started erection of an auditorium to stage the game, and plans to import stars from the Latin countries to show how it's played.

Charley Root of the Chicago Cubs won four successive games within 10 days as a relief pitcher this season.

Henry Finds Germans On Right Track

By FRANK ROGERS
Journal Sports Editor

Germany's propriety and preparedness for the 1936 Olympics cannot be challenged by anyone.

Bill Henry, speech-making sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, drove this fact home to members of the Orange County Schoolmasters' association in a meeting at Orange last night. Mr. Henry spent 16 days in Berlin this summer, inspecting the German preparations for the games. He was a guest of the German Olympic committee.

"I'm not sure what's happening in Germany," he declared, "any more than I'm absolutely sure what's happening in Washington and Los Angeles. But I do know that so far as the German committee's propriety and preparedness are concerned they certainly can't be challenged—especially by some politician in New York."

Mr. Henry declared that several visiting athletic teams were in Berlin while he was there and all were treated with the greatest respect and that any predictions of "trouble" to visiting teams next summer was "ridiculous."

On the international Olympic games committee, whose members have as their sole object in life the furthering of the games, there are many Jews, he declared. It is up to this body—with 48 nations represented on it—to decide where the games shall be held. "If they feel it proper to hold the games in Berlin," he said, "then I guess I'll take a chance."

"You know," he said, "perhaps Germany needs the lesson of the Olympic games just as we needed it here in Los Angeles."

Smilin' Bill had worked himself up into a near-frenzy by this time as he stoutly defended the glory of the Olympic games and pleaded that they be not destroyed "by politicians who see in this controversy a chance to square some personal avenger."

M. M. Fishback, president of the association, presided over the meeting and "Hod" Chambers, Orange athletic coach, introduced Mr. Henry.

Bill, with a typical sports writer's attitude toward physical strain, came into intimate contact with the intensity of the Germans' plans for the Olympics. The august men who are in charge of the games took him out to view the 325-acre site of the contests. They started at 6 a. m.

"It seemed the officials thought they should set a good example for the athletes by being in trim," said Bill. "We played rugby, threw the hammer, put the shot, hit each other in the face with a medicine ball, ran half a mile and then went for a swim. After that we had breakfast."

Garlock's Service, winner of the 1934-35 invitational tournament, ousted the Woolen Mills, defending champions, by a score of 32 to 22; and Scottie's downed Shell Oil after a score, 32 to 29, in opening games on the Y.M.C.A. court last night.

Completing the first round in the six-team circuit, Costa Mesa and Union Oil square off at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The United Presbyterians and St. Peter's Lutheran will assemble an hour later to touch off the fireworks in the Santa Ana Church league. Two other church league engagements—Latter Day Saints, defending champions, vs. Christian Missionary Alliance; and M. E. South vs. Nazarenes—will be played tomorrow night.

The Garlock-Mills game was billed as the evening's feature, but Scottie's outfit really put on the show last night. Neither contest contained the smooth type of basketball the clubs will be presenting in the near future.

Forward "Chuck" Denio of Garlock's, with 18 points, led the scorers of all four aggregations.

CARTOONIST SEES WEEK'S PIGSKIN PANORAMA

LOUIS MEETS SCHMELING IN JUNE

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The fistie merger involving Madison Square Garden and its No. 1 metropolitan rival in the promotion field, Michael Strauss Jacobs, removes any lingering doubt about the main heavyweight setup for 1936.

It means that Joe Louis will fight Max Schmeling in June, the winner to be matched with Champion James J. Braddock in September.

Both fights probably will be held in the garden's Long Island city bowl. Jacobs has done some dickering with Detroit and Chicago interests seeking the Louis-Schmeling bout. If it isn't held in New York, it will go to Chicago. The title fight, however, is a certainty for New York.

All this is based on the assumption, first, that Louis will crack the uncrackable chin of Paulino Uzcudun in December, besides disposing of the second opponent selected to meet him in March in the garden; second, that the garden's winter merger with Jacobs and Louis will pave the way for an extended agreement covering the 1936 outdoor season.

BEARS PREPARE FOR THOMPSON

BERKELEY, Oct. 23. (P)—The latest war cry on University of California's football practice field is "Stop Glenn Thompson!"

California engaged in its first scrimmage of the week yesterday, and most of it was based on putting a halt to the Southern California quarterback who was the leading light against Oregon State. Thompson passed and ran U. S. C. almost to victory in a last-half rally, but Oregon won, 13 to 7.

NEW YORK.—Tony Falco, 143½, Philadelphia, outpointed Teddy Loder, 142½, New York (10).

LOS ANGELES.—Leon Zorrilla, 145, Los Angeles, stopped Nick Pastore, 146, Brooklyn (2).

TUCSON.—Hank Bath, 180, Ft. Morgan, Colo., knocked out Terry O'Brien, 178, Tacoma (3).

Fraley Faces Masked One at Benefit Show

The Masked Marvel, 225-pound matman, and Pat Fraley, wrestling's latest West coast mat villain, have been signed for a three-fall, one-hour battle tomorrow night at the Orange County Athletic club when the Fullerton American Legion holds its first annual Christmas fund boxing-wrestling card.

Fraley defeated Ivan Manna-goff for the second time Monday night, and believes he'll have little trouble beating the "Masked Marvel."

"Fans will find out who this fellow is," said Fraley, "because I'll not only beat him but rip the mask off his head at the start of the match. He won't pull the same stuff on me that he did on Al Bisignano."

Steve Strelch will replace his brother, Mike, against Jose Valdez in the semi-final, while Danny Daniels makes his first start as a pro grappler against Fred Carone. The four boxing bouts bring out an array of talent, with Lupe Lemon, Fullerton light-heavyweight, meeting Tiger Woods; Don Benzo opposing Clover Wilson; Jess Sanchez mixing with Charlie Woods, and Chis Lopez tangling with Chuckie Vasquez.

A heavy advance seat sale is reported in and around Fullerton by legion officials.

CHESHIRE CENTER STANFORD ACES OF BRUIIN DRILL MAY YET PLAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (P)—Work on new offensive creations designed to spring Chuck Cheshire into the open, was expected at the University of California at Los Angeles today as Coach Bill Spaulding's unbeaten Bruins went a step further in their preparation for the game with Oregon here Saturday.

The U. C. L. A. team is built around the running and passing ability of Cheshire and Coach Spaulding figures now that he has been so heavily scouted he will be forced to enlarge on the number of plays given the star halfback if he hopes to break through the sturdy Oregon line.

TROJANS WORK ON AERIAL ATTACK FOR GOLDEN BEAR

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (P)—Coach Howard Jones of Southern California continued secret plans today that were designed to upset the sturdy California defense which has not allowed a point to be scored on this year.

While the gates to Bovard field were fettered the information filtered out that Troy was priming a passing attack for the Golden Bears with Glenn Thompson and Nick Pappas expected to do most of the throwing.

Jones switched his first and second teams around considerably yesterday, with the faces along the right side of the line putting Gene Hibbs at end, Gene Roberts at tackle and Joe Wilinsky at guard. He also had Bill Howard at fullback as the team went through dummy offensive work and a hard scrimmage against California plays.

CRACK GUARD TO REPLACE J. C. ACES

Scrimmage With Saints Arranged for Cook's Substitutes Today

By PAUL WRIGHT

Art Craft, dependable Orange boy who has been one of Santa Ana Junior college's mainstays at running guard, was instructed today to learn a new position—center—to compensate for the loss of Coach Bill Cook's finest pivot men, Harold Youel and Bob Spray.

The 160-pound Youel, alert let-terman who makes up in "football brains" what he lacks in weight, has been forced to turn in his suit because of an ankle injury that has bothered him since the game with Pomona college Sept. 27.

Spray Is Out

Spray, recuperating from a cracked wrist, will not return to action until the Dons' start at San Bernardino Nov. 1.

An injury to his left ear benched Youel following the game with Pomona, and although not in the best of condition, he returned to the squad last week to "pinch hit" for Spray against Citrus. Nursing a badly-sprained ankle, he has decided to quit football for a year, but will be active as a scout, and will aid Coaches Cook and Al Reboin in developing new talent.

Hal Mosiman and Dick Connell, diminutive but aggressive freshmen, will operate at running guard Roemer and Les Minder will be at center, and Dick DeSmet and Bob Holmes also are being given a while Craft is at center. Charley trial at putting the ball in play, available to alternate with Craft.

Bolton Is Ready

Clarence Bolton, six-foot-three-inch giant, is recovering rapidly from injuries, and should be in fine condition for Santa Ana's next start at Chaffey Saturday afternoon.

Quarterback Oliver McCarter, Orange flash, has missed the past two drills, but was to report at the Municipal bowl today. Cook planned to send his second stringers against Santa Ana High school's Saints in a light scrimmage this afternoon. . . . Aerial passes were to be stressed by the Saints in order to perfect the Don defense, which was nothing to write home about in the Citrus game. . . . Bruce Harms, quarterback reserve, is the only prominent member of the squad wrestling with scholastic troubles, but he probably will be ready for Chaffey. . . . A caravan of students and other fans is being arranged for the game at Ontario.

PASTORE KAYODE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23. (P)—A right jolt to the jaw ended a scheduled bout here last night for Nick Pastore, Brooklyn welterweight, in the second round of his bout with Leon Zorrilla, Los Angeles Filipino.

THEY STILL LOVE MAXIE!

Livermore Fetes Ex-Champ

LIVERMORE, Cal., Oct. 23. (P)—Max Baer still is "ace high" in this cattle raising town, from whence he sprang into short-lived occupancy of the world's heavyweight boxing throne.

More than 200 residents proved that last night when they paid $1 each (plus tax) to attend a testimonial banquet sponsored by the chamber of commerce just to show Max that Livermore—the community which lost $3.50 per capita when Baer was knocked out by Joe Louis—appreciated the publicity the big fellow gave the city.

The ex-butcher boy, who told the folks that he had made enough money on his Louis battle "to make at my managers comfortable, pay off all my law suits and pay my income tax," was conservatively dressed in a double-breasted dark business suit.

Accompanying him were his bride of a few weeks, the former Mary Ellen Sullivan, "Papa" and "Mama" Baer (Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baer) and Brother Buddy.

As principal speaker, Maxie reiterated previous statements that he was through with the fight game "unless Joe Louis wins the title."

Outside of Brother Buddy, who crooned two songs, Max was the only member of the family who entertained. He got the meeting off to a humorous start when City Councilman Frank Florio, the toastmaster, tapped a dinner gong to open the event, and Baer sprang from his chair into a fighting pose and barked, "Second Round."

Mrs. Max, who was pleasantly received, and the ex-champion's mother were given bouquets.

SLOT MACHINE WAR CLAIMS 7TH VICTIM

N. Y. Gang Leader Slain and Body Burned in Vengeance Murder

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—Underworld enemies poured gasoline over the nude, hooded body of Louis Amberg early today and left him in a blazing automobile. He was at least the seventh to die in a war for alleged control of the East New York slot machine and shakedown rackets.

Detectives identified the body after firemen extinguished the flames and an assistant medical examiner removed the burlap bag tied tightly around the dead man's head.

Skull Battered In

The skull had been battered in with an ax, police said.

They said they had been hunting Amberg for another killing, but that gangland had found him first.

The automobile, apparently stolen and bearing stolen license plates, was discovered afire on North Elliott Place, near the navy yard in Brooklyn.

Police said, however, that Amberg probably had been slain in Manhattan and his body carried across the Manhattan bridge.

"Stool pigeons," they said, reported where he was hiding.

Louis' brother, Joseph, and the latter's chauffeur, Morris Kessler, were stood against a wall and shot to death in a garage in Brooklyn's Brownsville section on Sept. 30.

Leader Of Gang

Joseph was the leader of the gang which police said ranged through East New York and Brownsville, both Brooklyn neighborhoods, running the slot machine and laundry rackets, operating a "general shakedown" of merchants and lending money at high rates of interest.

Ten days ago Frank Teitelbaum's battered body was dumped in a trunk from a speeding automobile near the Brooklyn bridge. Police identified him as a former lieutenant of Joseph Amberg and said his killing undoubtedly was a reprisal for the slaying of the gang leader and his chauffeur.

LEGION TO HEAR FLINT ON ETHIOPIA

Members of the American Legion post here were looking forward today to Thursday night's regular meeting, when Calvin Flint, of the Santa Ana Junior college will give a talk on Ethiopia and the war situation in Europe.

The members also will discuss plans for participation in the Armistice day parade at Anaheim Nov. 11. The meeting will start at 8 p. m.

'WAR POLITICS' TO BE LECTURE TOPIC

Dr. William D. Munro, professor of political science at the California Institute of Technology, will speak at the adult education evening lecture Thursday at Willard auditorium, at 7:30 o'clock.

"Great Britain and European War Politics" will be the subject of Dr. Munro's talk.

His Excellency—

HENRY H. BLOOD

The Governor of Utah

THE son of English converts to the Latter Day Saints church, Henry H. Blood, seventh governor of Utah, adheres scrupulously to the tenets of that faith. The small, white haired executive, with a twinkling, friendly eye, and a warm handshake for his many friends, high and low, does not use tobacco or drink liquor, tea or coffee. . . . He is fond of good music but aside from that he has no hobbies, unless it be highways.

A member of the state road commission for 10 years before he became governor in January, 1933, he helped organize the Western Association of Highway Officials and was its president for four years. Later he was president of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Once when he visited a town on highway business while running for governor, he refused to stop and make a political speech. "I'll come back later," he said. "Now I'm working for the state." . . . Born in Kaysville, Utah, 62 years ago, he was a Mormon missionary three years in England, has held many church offices and now presides over his home "stake" a major division of the church that includes several local congregations. . . . In 1896 he married Minnie A. Barnes, born the same night as the governor in the house next door. They have two sons and two daughters.

BEER DRINKING IN STATE LESS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Cooler weather in September caused a slackening in demand for beer, and drinkers consumed 1,833,555 gallons less than in August, Richard E. Collins, chairman of the board of equalization, announced.

The taxes on beer and wine for the last month were $159,963.89. In August they were $192,229.23.

LIGHT SHED ON PROPAGANDA

Declaring that propaganda thrives on suppression, distortion and exaggeration of facts, Oliver Carlson, well known political scientist and writer, yesterday spoke before an assembly at Santa Ana junior college on "War Propaganda."

Mr. Carlson, who at present is spending some time in Southern California completing his book on the life of William Randolph Hearst, is best known for his articles in Harpers, Current History, American Mercury, Nation, New Republic, and Common Sense.

Mr. Carlson explained that propaganda began with the medicine men in primitive tribes and that there have been examples of it throughout the history of the world. He also said that during the World War military force was not enough, and that it was necessary to support war through the repetition of ideas to mobilize civilians. In the United States the committee of public information was organized to "slant" all news in order to mobilize the country.

Pictures of the sinking of the Lusitania, the safe defense of the transports carrying doughboys, and the great production of American airplanes for the World War were "debunked" by the speaker. He said that all propaganda is intended to appeal to the emotions and that fear develops hatred.

"Three methods of fighting are used in war," he said. "They are direct military pressure, direct economic pressure, and suggestion by propaganda. Each country proves the opposite side started the war, had been preparing for war while talking peace, violated peace treaties, and is a barbarous and uncivilized people."

The lecturer also commented on propaganda sent out by Ethiopian sympathizers that a small Red Cross hospital in Addis Ababa had been bombed by Italian aviators. American correspondents later discovered that there had been no such hospital in the village. Other forgeries of letters of mutilations in Ethiopia have also been sent out, Mr. Carlson concluded.

RUBBER TREE IS LANDMARK

Graces Grounds At Willard

About 20 years after the city dads decided to found Santa Ana, the town had one of its first international invasions.

George W. Ford brought an Australian rubber tree, known as the Moreton Bay fig of Australia, to the city and planted it on the grounds of his residence, where the Willard Junior High school now stands.

William C. Watkins, in the employ of Mr. Ford, who was renowned as a nurseryman, planted the tree in 1889, he said, and believed it was about two years old at the time.

Although the school buildings have since replaced Mr. Ford's home, the tree has remained a landmark of "time was" in Santa Ana.

The botanical name of the tree is Ficus Macarocarpa. Evidence that it belongs to the same family as the edible fig tree is to be proven by its fruit and milky sap.

DEFENDANT AND LAWYER MISSING AS TRIAL STARTS

The judge, the jury and the prosecuting attorney were all present, but the defendant, Thomas Martin, and his attorney, Donald McKay of Los Angeles, were missing. The incident occurred yesterday in Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison's court.

Martin, who is charged with petty theft, is out under $500 bond. As a result of his failure to appear in court, Justice Morrison issued a bench warrant charging with contempt of court. A subpoena was issued ordering Martin's attorney also to appear in court to face charges of contempt of court. Justice Morrison set Nov. 6 at 9 a. m. as the time for the hearing of the charges.

Radio Roundup

By HOMER CANFIELD

IN TURNING OUT HIS 100th script for "Calling All Cars," Author Bill Robson decided that if he was ever going to make any changes in the program's style now was the time to do it. So when the dramatization of "Hugh Crowley's Last Beat"—the story of the 1931 Westwood Village theater hold-up—hits your dial at the 900 kilocycles along about 7 o'clock, you're to hear an "Innovation in radio dramas." Or so says Robson.

There will be no narration. Naught but dramatic action and atmospheric music to tell the tale. We've always been of the opinion that Fred Stark's musical back-TECHNIQUE grounds are the high spots of this show. They're on a par with Howard Barlow's selections for "March of Time" in creating just the right effect.

If you haven't really given them their proper attention, do so tonight. It will add to your enjoyment of the program. With Frank Tours' orchestra supporting, John Charles Thomas steps to the microphone at 6 o'clock, KFI, with an informal half-hour recital planned. Which is exactly what is wanted.

ROOSEVELT SUPPORTING EPIC PLAN, OLSON SAYS IN TALK HERE

UTT, EDWARDS AND COTTON FLAYED

President Is in Accord With Production for Use Idea, He Says

Senator Culbert Olson of Los Angeles, Epic leader and chairman of the state Democratic central committee, passed out figurative bouquets and brick bats in his maiden Orange county speech here last night. The bouquets were for President Roosevelt and the brick bats for Senator N. T. Edwards of Orange, Assemblyman James B. Utt of Tustin and Hamilton Cotton of San Clemente.

Senator Olson spoke briefly at a banquet in his honor in James cafe, attended by more than 100 Epic Democrats, and later in the Willard school auditorium.

At the banquet he said the Epic forces are working to send a delegation to the national Democratic convention, pledged to the principle of production for use, and that "I have the personal assurance of President Roosevelt that he will be with us."

"Approved By President" Questioned by a reporter, Senator Olson said that what he really meant was that "he is in sympathy with our desire for a liberal delegation from California."

In the Willard school address, the Epic leader said that "I told Roosevelt we wanted further evidence of the federal government favoring production for use. He said, 'You have a good state platform. I read it and I approve it.'" Senator Olson previously had explained that the platform contains the production-for-use principle.

He did not reveal when or how he was in contact with the President.

The theme song of Senator Olson's address, which occurred frequently, branded Senator Edwards and Assemblyman Utt as reactionaries. He criticized their position in regard to whistock oil drilling at Huntington Beach and urged election of liberals in their places.

Raps Cotton
Hamilton Cotton the speaker branded as a Republican-Democrat.

"I say he's not a Democrat. He belongs with Utt and Edwards because he would act just like them if he were in their place."

"In the last legislature I found Utt a most reactionary person and favoring legislation for special interests. In the senate I found Edwards, another man so thoroughly reactionary in his political acts that it seemed to me the people of Orange county are a long way behind the times even as moderate liberals would view it."

Senator Olson also criticized Senator Edwards and Assemblyman Utt for their support of the bill in the last legislature which would have permitted drilling into the state tidelands at Huntington Beach, from Standard Oil company property, with royalties for the state and Huntington Beach. He said if he had his way the state would do the drilling, and said

Bellamy, Mrs. Ives Cleared Of Murder in Trial Staged Here by Community Players

By PAUL VISSMAN

Overcome by excitement of hearing her son's wife and Stephen Bellamy exonerated of murder charges. Mrs. Daniel Ives slumped to the floor of department 2, of the Orange county superior court, dead, when the jury returned its verdict last night freeing Mrs. Sue Ives and Bellamy.

Mrs. Sue Ives and Bellamy had been jointly accused of murdering Bellamy's wife, Margot, who a short time before the trial had been found, stabbed to death, in a gardeners cottage on the Thorne estate.

The entire court proceeding, known as The Bellamy Trial, was packed with drama, and tense situation after tense situation, and every witness called to testify dealt smashing blows at the defense through a chain of circumstantial evidence when the Community Players presented their first offering of this season. The play, because it is a courtroom drama, is being presented all this week in the courtroom through special permission granted by the board of supervisors.

Judge Scovel Presides
Judge G. K. Scovel, department 3, superior court, presided during the trial. The prosecution is being handled by Franklin West as Mr. Farr, the prosecuting attorney. J. Parley Smith, taking the role of Mr. Lambert, is counsel for the accused man and woman.

In his opening statement to the jury the prosecutor declared that he hoped to prove that Mrs. Ives and Bellamy had slain Bellamy's wife when it was discovered that she was having an affair with Patrick Ives, husband of the accused woman.

After presenting the testimony of Dr. Stanley, relative to wounds found on the body of the dead woman, the prosecution called Melanie Cordier, governess in the Ives' home, who dealt the first damaging blow to the defense. She testified to having received notes from the dead woman addressed to her employer. These missives, she said, were concealed in a book where Mr. Ives secured them later.

Clash With Prosecutor
Douglas Thorne, brother of Mrs. Sue Ives, was the second witness who told of a visit to the Thorne estate on the night of the murder and of hearing a woman's scream followed by a man's laugh. His testimony was marked by a clash with the prosecuting attorney.

Mrs. Daniel Ives, whose death wrote a dramatic finish to the trial, told from the witness stand of a boy and girl love affair between her son, Patrick, and Mrs. Bellamy.

Testifying that he had first told Mrs. Ives that her husband was having an affair with Mrs. Bellamy, Elliott Farwell later admitted on cross-examination that he was in love with the slain woman and, at the time of her death, was attempting to persuade her to get a divorce and marry him. He also admitted that he had attempted suicide when told of her death.

In need to testify in his own behalf, Bellamy told of receiving a telephone call from Mrs. Ives on the night of the murder and of accompanying her on an automobile ride during which she told him that his wife and her husband had a rendezvous for that night at the gardeners cottage. He denied that he or Mrs. Ives had been near the cottage on the Thorne estate.

MANY FLOATS FOR NOV. 11 PARADE

Anaheim Is Expecting Wide Participation in Celebration

With each participating organization offering a wide range of subjects for floats, entries are rolling into headquarters of the Armistice day committee in Anaheim where the seventeenth annual Orange county peace-day festival will be staged Nov. 11, according to Ray E. Smith, general committee chairman.

Virtually every patriotic and civic organization has declared its intention to be represented in the feature parade to start at 11 a. m. The theme of the parade, "Patriotic America," permits a wide choice of subjects for floats which are expected to excel in beauty anything that has previously been seen in Orange county.

The committee has supplied organizations with a long list of tentative subjects, and it is anxious that organizations signify their choice early in order that positions in the parade may be allocated.

Tentative plans call for the feature parade, a football game in the afternoon, drum and bugle corps competition for prizes in the evening, with a series of balls and dances rounding out the day.

Particular stress is being laid this year on the entry of marching units. Chairman Smith said today, "If ever there was a time in our modern history when we should display patriotism by marching on Armistice day, now is that time when the country is beset with agitation from radical sources."

Mrs. Ives was called to the witness stand by her attorney and told substantially the same story as Bellamy until the strain grew too severe and she leaped to her feet and in a torrent of words admitted that she and Bellamy had been at the cottage where they discovered the body of Mrs. Bellamy. She declared that Bellamy took her home and warned her that no one must ever know they had visited the place because, innocent as they were, their presence there would convict them. Recalled to the stand, Bellamy substantiated this and declared that after he returned to his home he returned to the cottage and kept a lonely vigil all night, at the side of his slain wife "because she was always afraid to be alone in the dark."

Patrick Ives, husband of the accused woman, told the court that he had an affair with the slain woman at the cottage on the night of her murder, but did not keep it "for personal reasons." He said that the meeting had been arranged for the purpose of buying from Mrs. Bellamy two letters written her 10 years before during their courtship. The letters, couched in burning phrases of love had previously been read to the jury by the prosecution. Mrs. Bellamy, according to Ives, had planned to use the money obtained through sale of the letters to take her husband away for his health.

Why Mr. Phillips?
Randolph Phillips, high school principal, created a sensation when he took the stand just before the case went to the jury and told of seeing Bellamy and Mrs. Ives leaving the cottage. He was on the Thorne estate, he admitted, keeping a tryst with one of the girl students in his school. He testified that Margaret Dunne, with whom he kept the tryst, substantiated testimony of the accused man and woman that they had discovered the body of the slain woman and fled for fear of having involved in the investigation.

The play moved along smoothly to its conclusion with each smashing climax delivered effectively. Marion Bruner, as Mrs. Sue Ives, rose to new dramatic heights in her impersonation of an emotionally overwrought woman fighting for her life and happiness. Bob Guild, playing the role of Stephen Bellamy, gave a convincing interpretation of the man who saw the walls of his faith in his wife come crashing about his ears, leaving him to fight for his life, accused of slaying the one person he loved. Given a difficult role, he handled it with the finished skill of a trained actor.

A Touch of Humor
Holmes Bishop, handling the difficult character part of Luigi Orsini, gardener on the Ives estate, offered the only touch of humor that lightened the drama and left the witness stand accompanied by round applause and a genuine interpretation of the piece of character acting was handled successfully by Elizabeth Finley in the role of Melanie Cordier, the French governess.

Every member of the cast, some of them playing roles they fill in every-day life, did an excellent job of acting, and the presentation is a tribute to the genius of Mrs. Gladys Simpson Shafer, who directed the production.

Handling one of the most dramatic situations in the production Lois Reese Auer, as Mrs. Daniel

DR. TOWNSEND SEES POWER OF CLUBS

Pension Plan's Author Predicts Group Will Name Next Congress

CHICAGO, Oct. 23. (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend, father of the Townsend old age pension plan, declared today that his followers do not care who is elected President in 1936 because:

"We will elect the congress of the United States next year, and the chief executive must do our bidding."

The 68-year-old campaigner for a $200 per month pension for all persons of 60 or older was back in his native Illinois for the first annual convention of Townsend clubs. His aides predicted at least 6000 persons from all parts of the nation would be present for tomorrow's opening session.

Have 5000 Clubs
"We have 5000 clubs scattered throughout the 48 states and averaging 1500 members apiece," Dr. Townsend said.

"In addition to these there are other millions who will back our cause who are not actively enrolled."

"We propose to concentrate this power by congressional districts. I can safely predict that next year our plan will supplant the government's unworkable social security legislation, which will be repealed."

New Converts
Dr. Townsend said he doubted whether the death of Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana, leader of the "Share the Wealth" movement, would strengthen the Townsend organization.

"The Long forces were already with us before they lost their leader," he declared. "We are growing stronger every day with new converts to our plan."

PATTERN 9625

If you're a 46, or thereabouts, and conscious of excess pounds, pattern 9625 has been created especially for you; its purpose—to slenderize and flatter! There's studied concealment of a too heavy bust in the jacket's soft folds, ample provision for a fleshy upper arm in the set-in sleeves which taper so gradually into a fitted wrist. Diagonal seaming above and below the waistline and a flared hemline, reduce the hips to a matter of little moment. You'll crave the flattery of a light, contrasting vestee, whether your frock's a sheer or some soft, drapery crepe. Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9625 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 26 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 1/4 yard contrasting fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Be sure to send for your new Marian Martin pattern book! It pictures dozens of easy, thrifty ways to make up lovely new fabrics—in smart fall and winter clothes for your whole family! Shows designs for adorable, easy-to-make Christmas gifts, too. Tells how to make yourself more charming by the right choice of clothes and accessories. Send for your copy now! Price of book 15 cents. Book and pattern together, 25 cents.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Is it better to guide a child by force or indirectly?

Mrs. Lynn Crawford: Indirectly, of course. If a parent is careful to make the right suggestions instead of venturing any chance remark, he will not have a difficult job guiding the child's actions.

Mrs. Bert Castles: Absolutely indirectly. By taking a child's mind off his idea for awhile, you can gradually get him to accept your plan as his own and the problem is solved.

Mrs. G. E. Bogart: Forcing a child won't do him any good as a person. No adult likes to be made to do something which he doesn't want to do and children should be treated as individuals. A child should be led into accepting an idea.

Mary Stoddard DeMolay-Job's Daughter Dances Are Safe for Young People to Attend

Youth loves its own companionship and it's a wise mother that lets her own 'teen age daughter enjoy social affairs where she can meet nice boys and girls outside the classroom. To the mother who wonders about whether she should let her daughter attend the Friday night DeMolay-Job's Daughter dances in Veterans' hall, we'd say an enthusiastic "yes."

Chaperoned by mothers and fathers of the young Masonic groups, the dances sparkle with the fun and pleasure which only clean-minded boys and girls can enjoy. Perhaps some of those in the Mothers' circles of the two groups would like to endorse my recommendation.

This brief letter from a worried mother follows:

Dear Miss Stoddard: My daughter, Anna, is just 16. She says that many of her girl friends go to the DeMolay-Job's Daughter dances Friday nights at Veterans' hall. I've always heard how wild young people are these days and I'm afraid to let her go.

I hate to keep her back from having a good time but I just don't know whether it's safe or not to let her go to those dances. I wondered what you would have to say about them.

WORRIED MOTHER.

Mrs. George S. Briggs and her daughter, Mrs. Howard Timmons, gave the second in a group of contract bridge luncheons yesterday in the Briggs home on North Broadway.

Prizes for the afternoon's play went to Mrs. John L. Wehrly and Mrs. L. G. Swales.

Others on the guest list were Mesdames R. O. Winkler, C. V. Davis, R. G. Tutill, A. W. Rutan, Helen Heil, Clarence Nison, R. C. Mize, H. B. Rapp, Lewis F. Moulton, C. P. Boyer, L. K. King, John Wehrly.

Scraps From a Gardener's Scrapbook

By IDA D. DEAKINS

"Nothing to say. See you next week, Ida Deakins."

That's the message I found in the C. M. Deakins mailbox at Eastboa this week, so in order to preserve the tradition of the southern district, C. F. W. C. chairman's series, I'm going to talk gardens from the strictly amateur standpoint, for a bit.

I don't know how your garden looks today. Perhaps you've tied back, sheltered and carefully planned so that respite desert winds and between-season difficulties, it looks lush and attractive. My garden doesn't. The zinnias are "petering out" rapidly. The new nasturtiums and shirley poppies are extra-tiny shoots of green, and the grapevines' last clusters of concord grapes are small and uninteresting.

Only the brave Mexican sunflowers like big orange "pesos" shoot forth in abundant blossoming. One plant "bit the dust" in the last big wind. Propped back up and watered lovingly, it took new life and sent out a shower of flowers as "thankyou's."

I started to suggest, if your garden, like my own, is rather promising than fulfilling just now, try a drive through the hills and canyons, to enjoy the beauty of foliage all around.

The hills invite artists. The trees defy description. The peace of country roads surpass all expectation.

OILS PUSHED TO RECORDS ON MARKET

Busy Wall Street Session Finds Ticker Tape 2 Minutes Behind

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—The stock market today again was torn between a selective buying urge and profit taking caution.

The New Haven's financial crisis, occasioned by the refusal of the ICC to approve a much-needed loan from the RFC, did not shock the list as much as had been feared and a heavy demand for oil issues and scattered specialties pushed several of these into new high territory for the past year or longer.

The ticker tape fell 2 minutes behind floor transactions the first hour when $10,000 shares changed hands. The pace slowed later.

Shares of Case got up 4, Amerasia more than 2, and gainers of fractions to a point or so included Pure Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Standard Oil of New Jersey and California, American Telephone, Du Pont, Deere, Burroughs, Addins, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Public Service of New Jersey, North American, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Chrysler. A loss of more than 2 points was suffered by New Haven preferred and the common dropped 1.

THE BEARS

By Mary Graham Bonner

Although the little man Willy Nilly knew he had a great deal to do, he was very happy that he and his animal friends had acted so well in the sideshow that there was money to spend for much that they needed. And, in addition, there was a good deal put away for things that they might need later on.

He stroked his side-whiskers and smiled so that his face creased up and his little bit of a nose could hardly be seen.

He wondered what he would do first of all.

J. T. RAITT WILL ENTER DAIRY BUSINESS AGAIN

On the 39th anniversary of the day when he built his first milk wagon in Santa Ana, J. T. Raitt will re-enter the dairy business for himself on Nov. 1, he said today.

Mr. Raitt, who has been identified with the dairy business in Orange county for 39 years and built up the business known as Raitt's Sanitary dairy, said he plans to go into both the production and distribution end of the business.

REPORTER SEES NEW MODEL

A Journal reporter was treated yesterday to a surprise showing of the 1936 Chevrolet motor cars and trucks at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles. Three thousand dealers, salesmen, bankers and newspapermen were present, and while the newspapers were restricted in giving out any detailed information regarding the new models, the automobile-minded public is in for a surprise on Nov. 2 when these new 1936 Chevrolet models will be on display at the local dealer showrooms of the B. J. MacMullen company, First and Sycamore streets.

HE 'SUBS' FOR SELASSIE Ruler Has 'Dummy' at Front

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 23. (AP)—A dummy official called "Likamokwas" will serve as a camouflage King of Kings to protect Emperor Haile Selassie from danger when he goes to the front.

The ghost sovereign, whose full name is Likamokwas Haile, dresses exactly like the emperor, wears a false beard and carries an imperial red umbrella in imitation of foreign kings who regarded a parasol as an indispensable adjunct to battle.

The umbrella was intended to attract the attention of the enemy to Likamokwas and to divert notice from the real emperor who dresses in plain raiment and occupies a protected position while the enemy is attacking.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF LIBRARY DIRECTOR

The resignation of Mrs. Eleanor Northcross from the public library board was accepted with regret Monday night by the city council. City Clerk Ed Vegely was instructed to express in a letter the council's appreciation for her services.

Mrs. Northcross's letter of resignation said other obligations made the action necessary. It was reported that considerations of health have required her to be relieved of some of her civic work. She has been a member of the library board for the past eight years.

JEWELRY STORE TO BE MODERNIZED

Albert Asher, owner of the Asher Jewelry company, 210 West Fourth street, has just announced plans for the modernization of the entire front at the store. The work is to start the latter part of this week and is expected to be completed in about two weeks.

"Not only will the store front have a changed face, done in black and silver," said Mr. Asher, "but a number of other improvements will be made, including installation of indirect lighting inside, with new decorations and new window fixtures."

The contractor for the work is Vic Anderson. Fay F. Spangler is the architect. All local labor will be used, Mr. Asher reports.

HOME COMING TO BE SUNDAY

From all parts of Southern California will come former members of the Church of the Brethren Sunday, Oct. 27, when Homecoming day is celebrated at the church at Ross and Camille.

Dr. Ellis M. Studebaker, president of LaVerne college, will preach the morning sermon.

Early days in the church's history will be recalled at the afternoon program, when the Rev. Samuel Funk, Covina, who founded the church here in 1904, will talk. For several years following organization of the church, work was under auspices of the congregation at Covina.

The Rev. Edgar Rothrock, La Verne, a former pastor, is also to talk, and the Rev. George Hilton, pastor here about 10 years ago, has been invited to come from Coachella valley.

Young people will present special music. Women's organizations will be in charge of the basket lunch which is to be served at noon in the basement of the church.

Chairman of the day will be J. M. Wyne, presiding elder and early member of the congregation. Ray Teter and Bury Henard will assist him.

Culminating the day's events, communion services will be held at the evening meeting, with an invitation to members and visitors to participate.

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH DELEGATES OFF TO CONFERENCE

Headed by the Rev. C. M. Aker and T. J. Hunter, delegations from the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, were set to attend sessions of the Pacific annual conference opening today in Long Beach at the first M. E. church, South.

Bishop Cannon, jr., was to call the conference to order at 3 o'clock this afternoon. At 6:30 o'clock, a laymen's banquet is to be given. Tomorrow is to open with the conference business session at 9 o'clock. Dr. J. C. McPheters, conference preacher, presiding, and a sermon at 2:30 p. m. A missionary program is announced for 7:30 o'clock. A similar schedule is set for Friday, with a young people's banquet at 6:30 o'clock, changing the routine for Saturday.

Appointments, which are expected to include the re-assignment of the Rev. C. M. Aker to the Santa Ana pastorate, will be announced at the 7:30 p. m. service Sunday.

Among those who planned to go today were the Rev. Mr. Aker and Mrs. Aker, Mr. and Mrs. John Sebastian, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Donan, and Mr. and Mrs. Hunter.

Seventy-two new schoolhouses were recently opened in Moscow, Russia.

Plays "Grabbing" Charge

Mr. Cottle told how he had been instrumental in securing the recently published government report on the Mojave and how a conference was called at Riverside a few weeks ago. He said it was not designed as a public gathering, but that delegations from San Bernardino and the Mojave came in, clamoring for the floor. The Mojave people made charges about grabbing water.

"There never has been any suggestion at any conference before that there was any attempt to grab water. You people have jumped the gun on that. If we could have held the conference alone we might have got a program worked out to benefit the Mojave as well as the other counties."

"There is sometimes a flood menace on the Mojave. At other times the river is low. There is a site at the forks where a dam could impound 116,000-acre feet of water. Impounding it in years of abundant flow would stabilize the supply for the Mojave valley and protect the people from flood damage. And would there be anything wrong about it if we should take some of the surplus?"

"It's Not Hooey"

"I'm 71 years old. It makes little difference to me personally

MORE ABOUT CUTTLE

of the men said they didn't want me to accompany them. If I'm such a wizard as all that..." he broke off, smiling.

The spreading works are used to sink flood waters into the underground basin, and Mr. Cottle said he believes that benefits Orange county, too. If the water came on down the river it would flow into the ocean and benefit no one, he said. But when saved in the upper counties and used for irrigation, a lot of it percolates down to Orange county in the form of return irrigation, he contended.

Tells Spreading Work

Mr. Cottle, who is president of the Riverside Water Company, said he was familiar with the Orange county contention that if the upper counties continue to spread flood water, they ultimately will acquire title to it and Orange county will have difficulty in getting its share of this water. He answered that argument by saying:

"If we had all the works we could build, we couldn't take all the flood water. We're on record not to spread water until it reaches the Chapman street bridge, anyway."

"In 1922 we spread 80,000 acre feet, which is a little more than the Bear valley dam would hold. What we ask is that when years are good we spread that amount, and in other years spread only when water reaches the Chapman street bridge."

Mr. Cottle insisted that all his activities in regard to water have been designed for the benefit of the three counties on the river.

Fears Costly Litigation

"If argument and dissension continue, I fear we will drift to the place where we will go to tremendous expense in litigation without benefit to anyone. A fair division of surplus water, based on the records, is the only equitable solution of the problem."

Mr. Cottle recalled that in the 1929 water bond campaign he came to Orange county nightly and spoke in favor of it "where the opposition was toughest."

"When Narcissus had departed finally, though how much she would have enjoyed, in spite of her resolution, telling Charlotte about this servant. She told Edwin instead, that evening after dinner.

Edwin looked startled. "And you've liked her?"

"That was what he had gotten out of the story. She realized regretfully that he didn't consider it either funny or tragic."

"Why not? I think I can make an excellent servant of her."

He put down his newspaper. It was the occasion when Edwin put down his newspaper; reading it was becoming his evening ritual. "I'd rather you wouldn't have a servant of that sort, dear."

She smiled at him. Already she was learning shamelessly how to handle Edwin, and smiling that way was one of the most successful methods. He hadn't yet gotten used to it.

"But they're nearly all 'that sort.' And I'd much rather help her to make a living than have her acquire a second Rosebud in the process of keeping up the first one."

He looked at her very hard. He said gravely:

"You say astonishing things, sometimes."

She waited until bedtime, and then returned to the topic. "Edwin, we do these things. But I'm working as hard as I can to protect people in the future. That may sound like hoo
